MAIN ISSUE IS STILL IN THE BALANCE

After Six Days of Desperate Fighting Neither Russian Nor Japanese Army Is Able to Advance.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 16—2 a. m.—The latest report from the front brings the story of the great battle up to the Sunday morning, when the fighting at Shakhe was renewed with redoubled vigor. The Russian line holding their position at Sandepu and apparently neither they nor the Japanese are able to advance.

All accounts agree that the battle of Liaoyang is already being overshadowed in importance and the number of casualties. It is now the sixth day of desperate fighting with the issue still in the balance. The feeling is serious-ly grave and depression.

The lack of official news, the unofficial correspondence from General Kuropatkin's aggressive move and the enormous Russian losses in men and guns, compared with the optimistic reports from Tokio, all combine to prepare the public for anything short of a total rout of the Russians.

Nevertheless the reports of the newspaper correspondents at the front, while admitting heavy losses of Russian troops and their retreat beyond the Shakhe river, describe the soldiers as fighting with undiminished spirit. One dispatch even hints at apparently encouraging news from the eastern flank but counsels patience and official confirmation before accepting it as true.

There is a noticeable absence of bitterness against General Kuropatkin and the belief is prevalent that he was compelled to assume the offensive. A majority of the people are inclined to regard him as a victim of circumstances, and all praise the spirited manner in which he again removed his troops as soon as he realized the danger of being cut off by the advance. The fact that he personally directed the movement of three divisions in order to cover the retreat finds widespread credence.

FIGHT CONTINUES.

Tokio, Tuesday, Oct. 18.—(Midnight.)—By courier to Mukden.—The difficulties of their task and their heavy losses compelled the Russians to abandon their efforts to capture the heights overlooking Tunsi pass. Meanwhile the Japanese advance upon the entire Russian front continued. Less powerfully and to the north of the east column on the night of October 12, to relieve parts of the center.

The detachments on the flanks also [illegible] in another place about 2 o'clock in the morning. The artillery fire which broke on the southwestern front beginning near Shakhe on the morning of Friday became heavier and continued throughout the day, despite the storm of rain and hail and it is continuing now, midnight. The only exception has been early between 7 and 10 o'clock in the evening.

It is still difficult to judge the true results of this terrible fight.

All the chief roads in the direction of Mukden are crowded with wounded. The Red Cross field hospitals have mobilized all their forces. There is a great lack of bandaging material.

Lieutenant Colonel Reginelli, who in 1902 killed Prince Wittgenstein in a duel was severely wounded in several places.

FOUGHT BRILLIANTLY AND BLOOD FLOWED IN STREAMS

Mukden, Oct. 15.—A Russian correspondent of the Associated Press in his story of the fighting below Liaoyang says:

"A struggle was precipitated today at daybreak with every promise of another day of stubborn combat. It is now the sixth day of a fight unprecedented in history for the stubbornness and tenacity shown by both sides.

"The fighting Friday morning was resumed at 6 o'clock. We again advanced, from Shakhe capturing the advanced positions held by the Japanese by persistent attacks by the Yamaguchi regiment. We reached their second positions, but here a fierce fire from the enemy's artillery compelled our troops to halt and a desperate artillery duel was commenced. Twelve Japanese guns were silenced, every gunner being killed and their infantry support also being driven back. The guns stood in plain view but it was impossible for us to take them. Two battalions which were ordered to secure the Japanese guns were exposed to fire of a terrible concentration and rifle fire from the Japanese rear positions.

"The Japanese made repeated desperate advances in mass [illegible] but each time were driven off and several times we captured the guns [illegible].

"Our artillery ammunition was beyond praise. Throughout the day the results of the guns and the accuracy of the fire was splendid. At one [illegible] of Japanese was moved down while attempting to advance, the troops fighting brilliantly and blood literally flowing in streams. Every where death seemed to be a secondary consideration.

"Excellent news was received from the eastern division Friday, but it is so sensational that it seems unadvisable to believe until it shall have been officially confirmed. We can only counsel patience. Any hour may decide the fate of the battle.

ATTACK SUICIDE THEORY

Springs Physicians Say Denver's Claims Are Far Fetched.

COMPARISON FALSE

KEEPING OFFICIAL WAR OF CITY DEBT ISSUE WITH CONCLUSIONS OF FORMER HIGH SCHOOL PROFESSOR.

Colorado Springs physicians are incensed to slaughter with Professor Edwin Grant Dexter's recent book entitled "Weather Influences," at least they think that his conclusions are rather far-fetched.

Professor Dexter, who was formerly professor of science in the Colorado Springs High school and is at present professor of sociology in the University of Illinois, has compared the climatical and meteorological conditions in Denver and New York city and declares [illegible] dates an "equilibrium and that the weather of the state is the cause of more suicide and crime than that of the east coast country.

In a note his said words Prof. Dexter says:

"Electrical Disequilibrium."

"The almost constantly clear climate of Colorado has, I believe, even in the few years it has been enjoyed by the whole land, tended to produce a state of emotional disequilibrium which has shown itself in many ways and has had its effects upon the political and social history of the region."

Denver and New York are closely compared by Prof. Dexter. The climate is near the top of the continental divide is the only one in the country that Professor Dexter thought could be adequately compared to the great city of the east and he passed by Chicago and St. Louis and did not even consider quoting San Francisco when the time for the comparison came.

Denver or New York city and for Colorado climate, avers Professor Dexter, the effect of the dry rarefied air and the clearness of the sky which is almost continuous, nothing short of a miracle from the point of view of [illegible] during their stay."

Several of the local [illegible] physicians were interviewed yesterday on the subject and most of them seem inclined to accept Professor Dexter's theory "with a grain of salt." All of them admitted that he was a man of considerable knowledge and experience on the subject, but all declared that there were many conditions, other than climatical, which would naturally make the suicidal rate much greater in Denver and other western cities than in New York city.

Dr. Solly's Opinion.

Dr. Solly, of 3 North Cascade avenue, expressed his opinion as follows:

"Professor Dexter, who is a well-meaning man and a man of considerable knowledge on this subject, has been writing articles on this strain for some

IMPORTANT GATHERING IN DENVER THIS WEEK AT WHICH LOCATION OF SCHOOL WILL BE DETERMINED.

Colorado Springs is in the race with Pueblo, Canon City and Denver for the location of the Presbyterian college. The question of the location of this college will come up at the meeting of the Colorado synod in Denver this week.

Ten years ago Westminster college was located in Denver, but it has long been neglected, and there are certain phases of the situation that seem to point to the giving up of the school. With the abandonment of Westminster will come the discussion and fight for its location elsewhere.

A movement is on foot in the Denver presbytery to keep the college in Denver and many financial arrangements have been neglected, and there are certain phases of the situation that seem to point to the giving up of the school. With the abandonment of Westminster will come the discussion and fight for its location elsewhere.

A movement is on foot in the Denver presbytery to keep the college in Denver and many financial arrangements have been neglected, and there are certain phases of the situation that seem to point to the giving up of the school. With the abandonment of Westminster will come the discussion and fight for its location elsewhere.

A movement is on foot in the Denver presbytery to keep the college in Denver and many financial arrangements to make it a reality. The majority part of the synod is however well supplied with colleges, while southern Colorado has none except Colorado college in Colorado Springs. This is an important factor urged to change the location.

Pub City's Claims.

Pueblo seems to be the more favored town, though Colorado Springs advocates will do everything they can to [illegible] the synod that Colorado Springs is the best location even with Colorado college already there.

With the proposed union of the Cumberland Presbyterian and United Presbyterian churches, strength is given to Colorado Springs claim, by the argument that the Cumberland element now predominates in the southern and east part of the state, while the United element is strongest in the north.

Whatever action is taken, it is certain that the college will not be established until it can be established upon a permanent basis. An endowment fund of $100,000 will be required. This must be secured before the synod will give Colorado a college. While many are in favor of locating an $100,000 before beginning work.

The meeting of the synod, which comprises the presbyteries of the state of Colorado, is opening, with [illegible] on Tuesday morning in Denver.

Tomorrow there will be a meeting of the Pueblo presbytery, in which is included Colorado Springs, in Denver.

There will be a number of distinguished speakers at the meeting, and it is expected that there will be over 100 representatives in attendance. From Colorado Springs the Rev. Dr. Edgar W. Work and Mr. John Lennox will attend from the First church, while the Second and the Emmanuel church will be represented and the Rev. Dr. T. C. Kirkwood, who is clerk of the synod, will be a delegate.

TEN CARLOADS OF MACHINERY

PLANT FOR NEW BRICK YARD HAS ARRIVED—CONNECTIONS MADE WITH THE RIO GRANDE RAILROAD.

Work on the new plant of the Colorado Brick and Artificial Stone company at Palmer Lake is progressing rapidly and the indications are that the new plant will be in operation by the first of October.

The stone foundations were completed yesterday and the work of forming the superstructure will be started tomorrow morning. Ten cars of machinery, which is all of the machinery except a few small pieces, have been received at the siding and will be placed in position.

A one-fourth mile spur track has been laid to the plant from the main line of the Denver & Rio Grande. The new water mains to supply the plant with water from the Denver Hill from the Austin Bluffs system and is now in working order.

The management of the company has decided on the manufacture of Arabian blocks, as well as the regular brick. This new product is used in large cities for facing the buildings and will doubtless have a good sale here. The blocks are said to be fully as fluted and serviceable as stone and much less expensive.

BUSINESS MEN PURCHASE HOMES

MESSRS. JOHSON & EDFELT, RECENT ARRIVALS HERE, CLOSE DEALS FOR RESIDENCE PROPERTY IN NORTH END.

Mr. Paige Johnson, of the firm of Johnson & Edfelt, cigar manufacturers, yesterday purchased the former residence of Dr. Culp, 711 North Weber street. The improvements consist of a two-story, modern house of eight rooms, and a small cottage in the rear. It is stated that the purchasers will remove the property immediately and make it his residence. The sale was negotiated by Cash P. Dennett.

Messrs Jonson & Edfelt located in Colorado Springs only recently, having previously conducted the same business in Cripple Creek. They have met with success here from the start and have been compelled on two occasions to remove into larger quarters. Since beginning operations here, both members of the firm, having purchased homes in this city, have decided to remain permanently in the city and this addition affords the finishing touch to it.

TREATMENT OF PILES

Permanence of Cure the First Consideration.

Many so-called pile remedies will afford the user slight temporary relief, and the majority of those afflicted do not expect more than this.

The average sufferer after trying and every proposition presented for the cure of piles, comes to the conclusion that there is no cure except by an operation and rather than undergo this "last resort" he suffers on resigned to the situation, so far as possible. The attention of those interested is invited to the following testimonial:

"After ten years of suffering from piles, bleeding and protruding piles, and after using many remedies I could hear of without any benefit, a friend brought a fifty-cent box of Pyramid Pile Cure, and used it with such good results I bought next a dollar box, which finished up the job. That was nearly six years ago, and the piles have not returned. I am cured, and have never felt a symptom of them since."

Many others have found this remedy the most effective with the same results. Pyramid Pile Cure is recommended at druggists with which H. Pook Barrington, Stark...

For the first time in its history the Des Moines baseball club will take advantage of the draft rule that permits clubs of a higher league to draw players from undercurrent leagues. Now in sight from the home state, the Three I, the Southern and the South Atlantic leagues will be the chief transgression of the board of directors in the near future.

The "open season" for drafts by clubs in class "A" leagues begins today and several crack men in the four leagues named above who have been watched during the season will probably be drafted. The period from October 15 to the same date in November has always been open, but the local club has never taken advantage of the opportunity to secure new players worth is established.

Owing to the fact that a publication of names of prospects would make it possible for other clubs to get them men, Dr. Farrell refuses to divulge ... of the players the club now has in eye on. Two pitchers in the South Atlantic league are known to be wanted, however, and from one to two players will doubtless be taken from each of the other organizations.

HE WON CHAMPION STAKES AT MORRIS PARK RACE AND TOOK THE WHITE PLAINS HANDICAP.

FOLLOWED BOYS IN BLUE

Fort Logan Soldiers Have An Experience With Local Lad That Recalls Similar Ones.

That the young and unsophisticated resident is not the only one who is influenced to a more or less extent by brass buttons, epaulettes and a blue uniform was amply demonstrated yesterday when the second regiment infantry from Fort Logan went into camp.

In this particular instance it was one small boy who caused a great deal of amusement to members of company C. He was an ordinary looking lad of about 8 years, clad in blue jumpers, dark coat and black hat, and he arrived at the soldiers' camp at Broadmoor almost with the regulars. Where he came from no one knew, and his name and address could not be learned, although he was questioned by many people during the day.

Just "Down There"

He would adopt little parties of soldiers and all day long followed them through the streets. By hard by a determined upbraiding the men tried to send him to his home, but he refused to go. When asked where he lived he would point in a northerly direction and say "Down there." That's the best that could be learned.

"What do you want to follow the second all day for?" asked one of the regulars.

"Cause."

"Well, if you don't go away and let us alone, I'm going to turn you over to a policeman," said another.

"I don't care," was the indifferent response.

Didn't Awe Him

Threats of a policeman to take him to the station had no effect on the boy's determination to follow the soldiers.

This latter argument recalled to some of the troopers other incidents of a similar character several months ago, when the regiment was on march, they went to Greeley. At this place a boy "fell in" and followed the soldiers to Denver. He remained there for two weeks, refusing to go home until, at the request of the commanding officer, a member of the boy's family came and took him away. Another lad, during the Spanish war, followed a company to San Francisco and from there to the Philippines.

The course is one of a series which will be undertaken each year under the auspices of the college. Last year Henry McClintock, Jr., gave a course [illegible]

These lectures are supplementary to the regular law work which is given at the college under the direction of Prof. Urdahl. Courses upon Elementary Law and the constitution, also a part of the work of all young men seeking to make the law their profession. With these aids it is expected that students will be able to enter the middle year of any regular law school. The work at the college thus enables them to go on with their regular undergraduate courses and at the same time make preparation for their law work.

PLAY RATHER THAN CONCERT

Glee Club Will Probably Abandon Trip.

WILL PRESENT COMEDY

SUGGESTION OF GAZETTE IS BEING CONSIDERED AND EFFORTS MAY BE TURNED IN NEW DIRECTION.

The Colorado college Glee club may be abandoned this year and "Rip Van Winkle" given instead of the annual concerts.

Such is the proposition that is being considered by the young men of the club whose ideas were turned in this direction by an editorial in the Gazette, suggesting a change from the glee clubs.

For various reasons it is practically decided that there will be no glee club this year, and the idea is being pushed. "Rip Van Winkle" was presented by students there several years ago and made a hit. It is the plan therefore to have a school affair out of it by substituting it for the glee club. The tour over the state will be made, and by offering something new in this line it is expected to "take." All the men who took leading parts in the presentation last year are back and but four of the cast have graduated, so the plan could be gotten together, so the plan seems feasible.

If the plan goes through, the trip through the state will be made at the time of the Christmas vacation, and will include Pueblo, Trinidad, La Junta, Rocky Ford, Florence, Salida, Glenwood Springs, Leadville, Cripple Creek, Victor, Denver, Greeley, Eaton, Loveland and Longmont. Mr. Bowers will have charge of the play, and Ray E. Sharp will probably be chosen stage manager.

With this original idea the college boys expect to score a success all over the state.

A Few Suggestions for Consideration of Alva Adams

By E. E. RITTENHOUSE

Open Letter No. 2.

To the Hon. Alva Adams:

Dear Sir—Will you kindly again stand up and look the people of Colorado in the eye while your attention—and theirs—is thrilled to

The Adams Deportations.

You have literally deluged the state with scalding Democratic tears over the alleged injustice done the dangerous characters who were sent out of some of the mining camps of Colorado. You weep because of the violation of the constitution and because some of these desperadoes had families. Will you please explain the difference in the results to a man who is killed by a desperado with a family and one who is killed by an unmarried assassin? He would be dead in either event, would he not?

But these tears of yours have not asked any in sympathy for the families of the men whom the Western Federation of Miners have maimed and murdered in Colorado. Is no pretext the people of Colorado whom and where you are in.

We all know that you are naturally kind and that your sympathy naturally goes out to the unfortunate, but we also know that in this instance, owing to your weak and unfeeling, sentimental, political expediency prevents you from pictures to your hearers the distress, misery and suffering caused honest, law-abiding American working men by this vicious Western Federation of Miners. You dare not tell the people of Colorado the story of the brutal, heartless and inhuman crimes of this organization because you are running on a ticket and standing on a platform side by side with two representatives of the Western Federation of Miners, whose support you lack the moral courage to sacrifice.

Now, young man, will you look the audience square in the eye and answer this question:

An Early Precedent.

Don't you know that in all times and in all ages extraordinary measures have been resorted to meet extraordinary emergencies?

There are times when human impulses prompt people to do extraordinary things and it requires extraordinary means to bring them back to an orderly and ordinary course.

Did you ever stop to think Governor, how Adam and Eve left the Garden of Eden?

Their departure is the first recorded case of deportation, and you will also remember that a cherubim guarded the Garden of Eden with a flaming sword to see that they did not come back.

Perhaps you may regard this "extraordinary emergency" as too remote to apply to a modern instance. If so, here is one that is quite recent.

A More Recent Case.

I know it is your policy to admit nothing and claim everything, but still you will not deny that your brother Frank Adams is at the head of the police department of Denver.

Your brother Frank has deported about 400 of your fellow citizens since the present administration came into office inasmuch as this is all in the family you of course will not maintain that you do not know of this "outrageous proceeding."

During the past week your brother Frank has without any warrant of law gathered up and exiled about fifty of these downtrodden fellow citizens of yours, the most of whom were homeless and inoffensive. Their only crime being that they were poor and friendless. There had been a number of hold-ups in the Capital City. Your brother Frank and his policemen were unable to locate the criminals; they therefore arrested everyone who in THEIR OPINION looked suspicious, they arrested them without warrant or the slightest semblance of authority of law. They made no charges against them except that they were "suspicious." They were thrown in jail and after a time given a certain number of hours to leave the city, under threats of imprisonment.

You could, Frank, say this way: "In this bunch are undoubtedly the 'holdups' whom we are after, but unable to identify. I cannot tell the innocent from the guilty, but I do know that the people of Denver are entitled to protection from this tough element and I am going to deport the whole bunch and be on the safe side. A man cannot identify the hornet that stung him, but this fact don't prevent him from cleaning out the whole nest."

Did you tell the ladies whom you addressed in Denver last week about this outrageous violation of the constitutional guarantee by your brother Frank? Did you tell them that these humble citizens, the majority of whom were innocent of any crime, were ruthlessly torn from the street corners, the alleys and dives of Denver and forcibly driven from the city by your brother Frank? Did you explain to them that this was done by him in accordance with the provision of the constitution which says that "no person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law"?

Why This Silence?

Certainly not. You were busy denouncing Governor Peabody and the authorities of Teller county for doing identically the same thing with the dangerous and murderous element which did not confine itself to theft, but which murdered fifteen non-union men in one day.

Do you approve of the deportations of your brother Frank? If you do, how do you reconcile his action with the provision of that glorious document which you and your party have undertaken to guard the constitution? If you do not approve it why have you not protested against this "tyranny"?

Do you know of anything in the constitution that permits a policeman to grab a citizen who is quietly passing along the street, violating no law and hustle him out of the city limits in this manner?

When you get to this point in describing the deportations in Cripple Creek, you say:

"If any of these men are criminals, in God's name let the criminals be punished, let not the innocent suffer.

Have you ever said this to your brother Frank while pleading with him to desist in his "imperialistic" policy of deportation? Have you known that at the very time you were talking to the ladies in Denver last week your brother Frank was deporting these citizens from Denver?

And now please face the voters and tell them why you denounce the authorities for the deportations in Teller county and fail to denounce the deportation in Denver conducted by your brother Frank.

If it is right to deport dangerous characters from the city, why is it not right to deport them from a county?

If your brother Frank may judge who are dangerous characters in Denver, why may not the authorities of Teller county judge who are dangerous characters in that county?

You will observe that these are direct and specific questions. Have you the time to reply to them? Show your friends, Owers and Patterson, that you are not as weak and timid as they would have the people believe, and speak up so all may hear you.

Don't say that the cases are different because the deported men from Denver had no families or property, while some of the deported men from Teller county had both, for if you make this argument you will take the position that it is a crime for an American citizen to be without a family or property, which, of course, would be a foolish thing to do. The fact is that the poor Cripplecreeker can accumulate neither if they are to be constantly hustled from ... to another in this unconstitutional manner.

At the Rosebud Agency.

Perhaps you may regard this instance of deportation as much too recent to discuss as the Adam and Eve instance is remote, therefore your attention is invited to the deportations that occurred a few weeks ago at the opening of the Rosebud Indian lands.

Several thousand people were gathered awaiting the drawing of lots to secure land. Among them were a number of offensive and dangerous characters whom it was found impossible to control by ordinary means. The people assembled there were law-abiding and respectable and they concluded that an "extraordinary emergency" had arisen, and you know the result—they deported, drove away the undesirable characters.

Will you please tell us why you have not raised your voice against this outrage?" This, you know, is one of the questions you cannot dispose of with a pleasant smile.

You are undoubtedly aware of the appalling list of crimes which the civil authorities of Teller county permitted to go unpunished while the Western Federation of Miners was in control of public offices in that county. You know that after the militia left Cripple Creek that lawlessness and wholesale assassination was reported to. Ordinary measures having failed, do you not think that extraordinary measures were justified to meet this extraordinary condition? Perhaps you do not regard the murder of fifteen men in one day as an "extraordinary emergency." At any rate, don't overlook this question, it is really quite important that you answer it.

To Protect Property.

In order that you may fully appreciate the point I am trying to make clear, I will give you another illustration. You are constantly intimating that the law is sufficient to all emergencies. Let us see.

When a great fire is raging in a city, it is the common practice, as you know, to blow up surrounding buildings to prevent the spread of the conflagration. Do you know of any law or constitution which permits the destruction of private property in this manner?

You know that under such conditions the fire chief will order you out of your house and tell you that he is going to destroy it and that your protests will be made in vain. He will tell you that he is going to destroy it in the interests of the community to prevent the spread of the fire. For a time he rises superior to the law. He tells you a few are to be made to suffer for the benefit of the many, that your house must be sacrificed to save the property of the people of your city.

If you are as fair, candid and just as you would have the people believe, you will admit that this is indeed an "extraordinary emergency" which is met by an application of the natural law of self-preservation, and you will also admit that it is right to apply this law to this emergency.

Now tell the people how you can maintain that it is right to apply the higher law of self-preservation to protect property in this manner, and wrong to apply the same law to protect life in a similar "extraordinary emergency."

Please answer.

A Dire Eventuality.

Another extraordinary emergency which has called for extraordinary measures to meet, is your candidacy for the governorship. You and your party regarded the emergency so extraordinary that you and they have adopted the extraordinary and humiliating policy of forming an alliance with the element which believes strike violence justifiable and that property is robbery.

Have you said or done anything during this campaign that would indicate, in the remotest way, that your sympathies were with the terrorized people of Teller county or with the men who were maimed and crippled by the Western Federation of Miners in that camp, or with the families of the men who were murdered in the interests of that organization?

Not one word. But it is not too late. Why not speak up, why be afraid?

The Present Situation.

Just one more question. Have you heard of any threatening or any murders of union men like those that were the case characters were up on the mining camps, Miss., of B. Fe occurred?

Is it not a fact that every walk of business enterprise has been paralyzed without fear to the remainder that prosperity and good order have returned. The disappearance of these Western Federation desperadoes from the camps, as it did after the occurrences in the Coeur d'Alenes and at Leadville?

Deportation is a severe remedy. It is unfortunately true in the case of the Western Federation of Miners made it necessary to apply it, but I must agree that the remedy has had the desired result. Good order prevails and happiness have returned to the mining camps of Colorado, have they not?

It would be very becoming in you to answer these questions. If you do not, the voters are very likely to join your friends Owers, the rider and Patterson, the reader, in the opinion that you are afraid that you are again exciting the weariness and weariness of hard workers for open-air measures as charged by your friend Patterson in the campaign of 1894.

Respectfully yours,

E. E. RITTENHOUSE.

The College Girl's Real Student Life

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 15.—The [illegible] engagement she will [illegible] her wear student life for girls [illegible] the picture and dream [illegible] Radcliffe. [illegible] ...dence have developed a life of their own just as interesting and just as distinct from the ordinary life of the world as that of the men's colleges. And though it may not seem to the average parent a valuable part of higher education it is considered by modern educational experts to hold a position of prime importance in the general scheme of personal development.

Perhaps the student life at Radcliffe, the "women's Harvard," is a typical of the most advanced attitude of mind as is to be found anywhere. According to the modern idea the purposes of a woman's university are better served by giving students a chance for association with the men, women and children who make up the world into which a graduate must go than cloistering them, as used to be thought necessary. Radcliffe was founded to provide girls with just the same kind of education that men get at Harvard, so besides having Harvard [illegible] tors to teach Harvard courses, and examinations leading up to degrees identical with Harvard's, Radcliffe has always tried to encourage the same university spirit as is found in the bigger institution and the same freedom in [illegible] matters is allowed.

At first, of course, this afforded more or less amusement to the Harvard students and was probably regarded with some disfavor by people with old-fashioned ideas. Indeed, the Radcliffe girls themselves knew the humor of the position in which the pioneer stood, for the song of The Only Man, which represents a tradition that has long since ceased to be a reality, is [illegible] a feature of every Radcliffe banquet.

There is no crew, and the basket ball team confines its attentions largely to games within the college and with the teams of neighboring girls' schools. But there is a tennis club with large courts of its own which are crowded [illegible] the fair hours when out-door sports are in season, and English hockey is played here more than anywhere else in the country, it is said. RUSKIN SAYS:

"All works of taste must bear a price in proportion to the skill, taste, time, expense and risk attending their invention and manufacture.

"Those things called 'dear' are, when justly estimated, the cheapest; they are attended with much that profit to the artist than those which everybody calls cheap.

"Beautiful forms and compositions are not made by chance, nor can they ever, in any material, be made at small expense."

My daddy says (was wrong or not
A boy, he never cried
Nor ran away from school to go
A-swimmin'; never lied
To cut a lickin'; never failed
To do as he was bid—
(Well, maybe daddy didn't, then—
But gran'ma says he did.)

My daddy brags a lot about
The way boys acted when
He was a boy. (Gee! but they must
A' been most angels then!)
He says he never dared to peep
Beneath the cake-box lid—
(Well, maybe not; but, anyway,
My gran'ma says he did.)

I never tied a tin can to
A dog's tail in my life!
Says daddy. "An' I never carved
My initials with a knife
In great big gashin' capitals
On the piano-lid—
(That's what he told me solumnly—
But gran'ma says he did.)

I never cared for sleeves
An' boys bands an' such things,
(Say—honest that's just what he said),
An' toys an' doll things.
I never walked after school
To look some other girl.
(He says he never does those things—
But gran'ma says he did.)

Say! but my gran'ma's mighty wise;
She knew my daddy when
He was a little runt, an' says
He was a terror then!
He says he never cut up none
The times he was a kid—
(I know I ought to b'lieve him, but
My gran'ma says he did.)

JUDGE PARKER ON FREE MAIL.

Judge Alton Brooks Parker, the Democratic candidate for president, was recently chatting with an editorial writer on his veranda at Rosemont, New York. Naturally the conversation turned to the matter of rural free delivery, which is a characteristic of the Parker family.

LINER'S HUGE KITCHEN.

Its Cooks Supply the Daily Meals for Over 1,500 People—Good Ideas for Housekeepers.

All travelers who set foot for the first time on a modern Atlantic liner, as some hundred thousand Americans will do before the present season is over, says the Pilgrim, are keenly interested in the scientific appliances for navigating and determining the position of the vessel and are surprised at the perfect appointments [illegible] shelves [illegible] perfection and through the kitchen [illegible] fantastic passages [illegible] left nothing behind to [illegible] fastidious taste of [illegible] century travelers.

It will be quite worth while for any housewife who has difficulty in securing sufficient variety at her own table to procure permission [illegible] and to see how [illegible] hundredfold more difficult [illegible] and served. The main galley of a [illegible] liner, to give the passengers [illegible] its proper position, [illegible] less of a kitchen than the [illegible] scientific steam [illegible] of some extremely neat and well-ordered manufactory. It is indeed a big culinary workshop where [illegible] and steam [illegible] are applied to the [illegible] and where mistakes are rarely to be allowed.

One difference from the ordinary kitchen that will impress the observant housekeeper at once is the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] week. CURIOUS SNUFF BOXES

Many were Made in Many Curious Suit Fancies of Users—Different Occupations Carried on Them.

In the days when a snuff box was considered a necessary attribute to the perquisites of a beau—or a belle, for that matter—much ingenuity was brought to bear upon the manufacture of these dainty trifles, says the London Daily Mail.

The results were often very novel, and even the most capricious and exacting snuff-taker found something suited to his wants. Those with a taste for the morbid could buy boxes made from the wood of scaffolds, chairs that murderers had sat upon or parts of their houses. Sporting men could find pleasure in the little miniatures depicting scenes in the chase. Sailors had their boxes made from the timbers of some historic ship or the hull of the Royal Oak was turned to the purpose more than once.

Soldiers had battle scenes in enamel work their boxes and those were [illegible] with the [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible]

The French [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Sunday Reading

AT THE palace of the Tuileries in Paris on August 10, 1792, every soldier of the Swiss Guard perished to a man. They gave their lives in vainly trying to defend Louis XVI against the mob of the city. The Lion of Lucerne, carved out of the solid rock in the grotto back of the town is their memorial. Wonderful indeed is the work of man's genius. The grave lion in the Swiss soldiers. The life under his paw in France as represented by her king. Not until the lion was dead did he have power to keep the life cease. These soldiers were not patriots. There was no love of native land in their death. They were sold to war and died as soldiers die. The soldier of the cross is a volunteer. When he dies for the cross he dies as a martyr soldier. It is love for Christ that makes him give his life for him. He was not been forced into war by stern, hard military power, but drawn into Christ's service by love for him. The best soldier is the volunteer. The Christian army will always be invincible because it is an army of volunteers.

Neighborhood Kindness.

A neighbor of Hawthorne in Concord tells a beautiful instance of the great author. When death once entered into a household in Concord Hawthorne picked the finest sunflower from his garden and sent it to the mourners. Mrs. Hawthorne with the message: "Tell them that the sunflower is a symbol of the sun and that the sun is a symbol of the love of God." A very simple act indeed, but how much soul there was in it, using an everyday, unadorned flower, but its symbolism was inspiring. Plucked from a quaint garden, it brought home to the mourners and cast a ray of light in the house of gloom. Only a simple act, but it told the afflicted ones that there was one left in the neighborhood thinking of them. Most of us could show neighborly kindness if we were less selfish. So many are we to think of ourselves before others. A little word, a kindly cheer, a little deed would make life so much easier if we would only think to give it. So few have learned the true lesson of life that our own troubles take wings as we try to alleviate the troubles of others.

Power.

A distinguished thinker, in a gathering of scientific men, said his hearers that a single ounce of radium would, in the course of time, emit more powerful rays than tons of dynamite. As there is in the field of mechanics two kinds of power, latent and kinetic, and this power is useful according to the application of the mending power, so in the spiritual world we need the ideal power. Sometimes we need kinetic power, sometimes latent power. Elsewhere spiritual power is perhaps the most useful, as it is constantly acting. The power of attraction is more useful than the power of repulsion. The constant spiritual power is better than that which goes up in an intermittent revival. Dynamite may be needed in clearing up rocks, but we are not always quarrying. Spiritual dynamite ought to be saved to blow up the dead Gehenas, which Elisha mysteriously dispatched to meet her fate replied, "It is well." She put him aside because she felt that he was not the one to whom she could open her heart. She took her trouble to the right place. She had faith to believe that God would restore her child to her.

The Staff Method.

Elisha sent his servant with his staff, with instructions to lay it upon the face of the child but the mother was not behind the staff. Gehazi's ministry proved ineffective. The child remained lifeless. Only those spiritually alive can raise the dead to newness of life. The servant did as he was commanded, but "there was neither voice nor hearing." The staff was not only in the wrong hands, but it came into a conflict of prophetic authority and office. Gehazi's ministry was not to be exercised by faith and prayer. The very purpose of his mission also be accompanied by faith and prayer. The very purpose of his mission also be accompanied by faith and prayer. The very purpose of his mission also be accompanied

CATS IN A BOMBARDMENT

WHEAT MARKET STARTED STRONG

THERE WAS A CONTINUED ACTIVE DEMAND AND APPARENT SCARCITY OF THE CASH ARTICLE

Chicago, Oct. 15.—The wheat market was strong from the start. The element of perhaps the greatest importance, however, was the continued active demand for cash wheat and apparent scarcity of that article.

The market closed strong, with December ½ higher at 113¾. Final cash sales on May were at 118¾@118¾, a gain of ¾.

Corn was quite weak on heavy receipts and prospects. December closed ½ lower at 47½.

Oats were weak and trading light. December closed half a cent down at 35¾.

Provisions were firm. At the close January pork was up 12½, and ribs ½ to 5 cents higher.

The leading futures ranged as follows:

DRESSY STREET COAT FOR FALL WEAR

THE artist may cry and the poet may lament the fact that women are extravagant, but when the bills for the new gowns come in it will be seen that they have, after all, some ground for their pernicious habit. It is to be a season of extravagance, and many hundreds more yards are needed to develop the new lines and the trimmings. And this not only in quantity but in quality as well.

All of the shiny and shimmery materials—and weaves hitherto heavy have taken to themselves the most delightful of shines—are in vogue, and the cleverly dressed is shoulders and to-all and end are those that the trimmings must perforce partake of the same character if the gown is to be anything at all of a success.

But all of this extravagance and elaboration need not prevent that the girl of moderate purse will not be able to keep her place in the fashionable procession. She needs only to exercise the ingenuity that is hers to evolve beautiful effects from simple and inexpensive materials, and perhaps even summon to her aid the needle and thread while performing the feat of wise economy.
